

BLACK TO YELLOW

That's WY

REGION DESCRIPTION

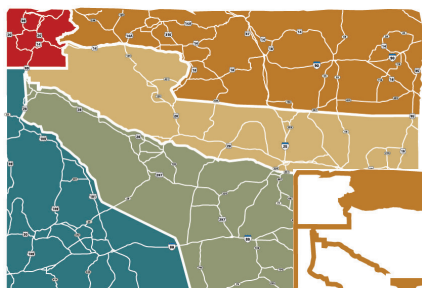

Begin the adventure long before Yellowstone National Park's East Entrance with detours through Wyoming's Black Hills National Forest, Devils Tower National Monument and Bighorn Canyon National Recreation Area. With little traffic, fewer people and wide-open skies, the Black to Yellow region will redefine your concept of fresh air. Dotting the spectacular landscape, you'll find charming towns where 19th-century hotels, shops and restaurants still welcome travelers and outdoor recreation abounds. Acres of public land, sagebrush plains and rolling hills set the scene for trips ranging from family outings to solitary adventures.
